Common European Framework of Reference for Languages

 Pre A1 A1 A2 B1 B2 C1 C2

Titles with this logo include a reference to the Common European Framework of Reference for Language (CEFR) levels, as a general guide to teachers

The CEFR provides a common basis for describing levels of language ability in terms of what a learner 'can do' with the language in real-world tasks. Cambridge University Press is a leading member of English Profile, an EU-sponsored research project to describe the specific knowledge and skills in English that learners need to reach each CEFR level. Our course designers and authors make use of English Profile research to ensure courses are finely tuned to what learners at each level need.

Second edition

Chris Redston and Gillie Cunningham

COMPLETE BEGINNER TO ADVANCED

Starter: 60 to 90 teaching hours

Elementary to Advanced: 80 to 120 teaching hours

face2face Second edition is the easy-to-teach course for busy teachers who want to get their learners to communicate quickly and with confidence.

- Teaches students to listen better by drawing their attention to the elements of spoken English that make it so hard for them to understand.
- Helps build spoken fluency and accuracy by giving students time to formulate the ideas and language they want to use before they speak.
- ‘Help with...’ sections teach students how English really works so they can apply what they learn more readily and with more confidence.
- Video-based ‘Real World’ lessons in every unit give students the practical language they need.
- The course is informed by the Cambridge English Corpus with vocabulary mapped to the English Vocabulary Profile, so students learn the language they really need to know at each CEFR level.

In Focus

A vocabulary, reading and critical thinking skills course

Charles Browne, Brent Culligan and Joseph Phillips

PRE-INTERMEDIATE TO HIGH INTERMEDIATE

In Focus is a three-level course for adult and young adult learners designed to build vocabulary, reading, presentation, discussion, and critical thinking skills. Each Student's Book contains 12 topic-based units which are divided into two cycles of six general themes.

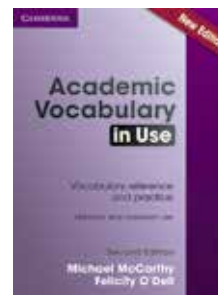

Drawing upon research using the multi-billion-word Cambridge English Corpus, this course provides a lexical syllabus containing the most important words for second language learners of English. This syllabus comprises two word lists: a New General Service List (NGSL), a list of approximately 2,800 words; and a New Academic Word List (NAWL), a list of approximately 1,000 words that are especially useful for students who want to read academic texts in English. Together, these 3,800 words allow learners to understand 92 percent of the words in most English academic texts.

Though In Focus coursebooks can be used as standalone texts, they are supplemented by a comprehensive range of online resources, both website and smartphone apps, which allows students to personalize and extend their learning beyond the classroom.

The In Focus Teacher's Manual contains full step-by-step teaching notes, unit-by-unit summaries, language notes, tips, extension activities, options for assessment, and a complete answer key.

Lecture skills A

Preparing for lectures

Preparing for lectures

- Lecturing styles
- Revising basic information

Listening

- Understanding lecture aims
- Understanding outlines
- Identifying main and secondary points
- Taking notes: annotating slides 1

Language focus

- Repetition and rephrasing

Follow-up

- Taking notes: annotating slides 2
- Reviewing your notes

1 Lecturing styles

1.1 During your academic studies you will hear many different styles of lecturing. Watch three lecture extracts that illustrate a reading style, a conversational style, and an interactive style. What differences do you notice?

1 Reading style

2 Conversational style

3 Interactive style

1.2 a In pairs, discuss the following questions.

- Which style do you find easiest to understand, and why?
- Is there a style of lecturing that is common in your subject?

2 Revising basic information

Study tip A lecturer will assume that you already know certain information and build on this in the lecture. It is helpful to prepare for a lecture by making sure you understand key terms and concepts that your lecturer may use.

2.1 a You are going to watch extracts from a lecture given by Dr Maru Mormina with the title The origins of human diversity. Read the notes from a previous lecture on her course.

- DNA = material inside the core (= nucleus) of each cell in the body; it carries genetic information in genes (= sections of the DNA)
- genetic information controls the cell's chemistry → gives the body its characteristics & influences how the body works
- genetic variation = differences between individuals that are inherited (e.g. eye colour is inherited from parents)
- genome = total set of genetic information of a living thing (human, plant, etc.); located in chromosomes (in centre of cells; control what living thing is like)

Dr Maru Mormina is a Research Fellow at the Leverhulme Centre for Human Evolutionary Studies, within the Department of Biological Anthropology, Cambridge University.

b In pairs, take it in turns to explain the following key terms without looking back at the notes.

DNA    genetic information    genetic variation    genome
